Katie joined in September 2022, as a trainee solicitor in the Birmingham office and is currently based in the property team. She works on a wide range of commercial real estate matters, including assisting on acquisitions and disposals, landlord and tenant, and development schemes for clients across the public sector.

Katie is actively involved in our Community Action Group which supports projects for our local charities and young people across the West Midlands.

Katie developed her expertise after working as a financial services litigation paralegal at an international law firm. She was responsible for drafting, negotiating, and offering clients sound strategic and commercial legal advice. Prior to this, Katie worked in the legal department at an international automotive company where she worked collaboratively across the business, and assisted teams within the financial services sector.

Katie studied Law at Aston University before completing the Legal Practice Course and a Masters at the University of Law, where she graduated with a distinction.
