

Monthly insurance policy wording update

The Word, July 2023

27 July 2023  Tim Johnson

Welcome to July's edition of The Word, brought to you by Browne Jacobson's policy drafting and distribution team.

This edition details crucial ESG developments that could impact insurers in several ways. You will also find updates on recent rises in freight crime, global civil unrest and the importance of clarity in reference to a business transfer agreements and deeds of indemnity. We also consider a revolutionary decision made by Nevada courts, to prohibit 'defense within limits' policies!

I hope you find this month's edition compelling and insightful.

Tim

Contents

- Global civil unrest on the rise and insurance claims? →
- Insurance business transfers: Clarity is key - \(another\) reminder from the courts →
- Changing seas \(literally\) - Arctic melt sparks regulatory and insurable loss concerns →
- How does Chilean freight crime affect insurers? →
- Insurance risks: ESG supply chain violations in Western countries →
- Nevada state bans 'defense within limits' insurance policy provisions →

Key contact

Tim Johnson
Partner

tim.johnson@brownejacobson.com

+44 (0)115 976 6557