

NHS White Paper webinar (part 1) - supporting integration

View our on-demand video where we look at the NHS white paper which sets out the legislative proposals for the new health bill, which has been created to support the statutory delivery of Integrated Care Systems.

20 April 2021

This webinar took place on Monday 19 April 2021 and is now available on-demand. The content in this recording was correct as of the original webinar date.

This is the first in a series of webinars and will provide an overview and discussion of the working together and supporting integration section of the white paper, the aim of which is to provide high-quality health and care so we can live longer, healthier, and have more active and independent lives. The proposals build on the NHS's recommendations in its Long Term Plan.

In this video we look at the work that we have done with healthcare organisations across the country to create proposals for Integrated Care Systems.

The session was chaired by Sir Neil McKay, Strategic Consultant for Browne Jacobson, who has a long and distinguished career in senior leadership positions in the NHS in England.

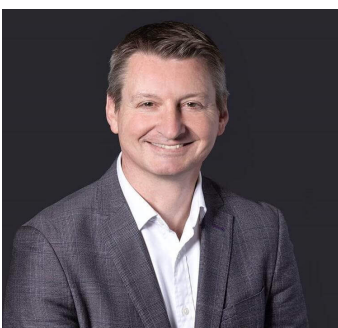

Watch the other episodes

Part 2: Reducing bureaucracy →

Part 3: Ensuring accountability and enhancing public confidence →

Part 4: Key aspects of the 'Additional Proposals' included within the White Paper →

Contact

Gerard Hanratty

Partner

gerard.hanratty@brownejacobson.com

+44 (0)330 045 2159

Recent experience

Services

Governance for health

Health law

Integrated healthcare systems