The world of healthtech and digitech is continuing to develop at pace and as a result of Covid-19 we are seeing it being used and implemented to a greater extent across the NHS and wider health and care market. Our healthtech team has been discussing those aspects of healthtech which are clients tell us are important to them and where we think the next advancements are going to be seen. The use and implementation of AI is always a lively talking point for us as it throws up a number of interesting legal issues for both suppliers and buyers. NHSX has now published its guide for buyers of AI which is worth a read.

To find out how our national healthtech team can support you with your AI and other healthtech projects do get in touch.
