

Public matters - February 2021

This month includes updates on state aid/ subsidy control regime, London Borough of Lambeth v AM, data protection, and administration law.

19 February 2021

Welcome to our Public Matters Newsletter.

This month we have:

High Court grants local authority injunction to prevent breach of confidence following subject access disclosure

This judgment critical is reading for public bodies who need to take action to restrain the use of confidential information in circumstances where that information has been inadvertently disclosed to a third party.

Matthew summarises London Borough of Lambeth v AM (No. 2) [2021] EWHC 186 (QB).

Read more >

Brexit - now what for data protection law?

Now that the transition period has ended, Richard looks at what this means for data protection law in the UK.

Read more >

Steps to take when responding to an administration

Chloe provides a general overview of administration and what options are open to local authorities.

Read more >

Consultation on new UK subsidy control regime

It is vitally important that public bodies make use of this opportunity to have their views heard and to shape the future of the new subsidy control regime.

Angelica considers some key elements and proposed reforms from the consultation.

Read more >

On-demand webinar: State aid and subsidy control - post Brexit

Watch new >

Contact

Anja Beriro

Partner

anja.beriro@brownejacobson.com

+44 (0)115 976 6589

Related expertise

Sectors

Central government

Government

Local government