In this Covid-19 webinar key members of the team provide an update on current issues arising in relation to the pandemic.

Andrew Hopkin looks at some of the health and safety challenges presented by the reopening of premises and in particular:

- As premises re-open what are the key Covid-19 related health and safety considerations?
- What guidance is available and how should employers approach assessment of risk?
- In particular, what risks are presented by premises, equipment and operations?
- How to manage practical challenges such as reporting cases of infection, shared premises, use of PPE and continued homeworking for some.
- How will the employers keep Covid-19 health and safety risks under review and manage employees feedback and concerns?

Anja Beriro and Louise Bennett look at:

- How to get procurement going again – dealing with a back log and how to keep standards high.
- What have we learnt about awarding emergency contracts?
- What has Covid-19 taught us about what we need in contracts?
- Can we run virtual procurements? How to ensure compliance with the regulations.

The webinar is available on-demand, with links shared on our LinkedIn page.
