

Grievances, complaints and whistleblowing. Managing the impact of difficult behaviour

In the first of our two-part webinar series on 'managing the impact of difficult employee behaviour' regulatory and employment experts Ros Foster and James Tait look at what is, and what isn't, whistleblowing in the context of grievance and complaints procedures.

18 May 2022

In the first of our two-part webinar series on 'managing the impact of difficult employee behaviour' employment and regulatory experts Ros Foster and James Tait look at what is, and what isn't whistleblowing.

Suitable for in-house lawyers, HR and employment professionals and people managers working within the public sector, this webinar looks at what the law says about breaches of confidence and complaints, before specifically looking at how data should be processed in relation to responding and managing cases.

Utilising very recent examples of cases in the public-eye, James and Ros provide guidance on the approach you should take to managing such situations, and highlight the risks, and the legal and practical issues that can arise along the way.

The second part of the series, 'the use and misuse of social media' takes place on 9 June.

brownejacobson.

Managing the Impact of Difficult Employee Behaviour:
Grievances, complaints and whistleblowing

Watch on-demand ►

Speakers

James Tait

Partner

james.tait@brownejacobson.com

+44 (0)121 237 3999

Contact

Mark Hickson

Head of Business Development

onlineteaminbox@brownejacobson.com

+44 (0)370 270 6000

Related expertise

Services

Employment

Employment and pensions for public sector

Employment services for healthcare

HR services for schools and academies